

Precision BioSciences to Host In Vivo Gene Editing R&D Day on September 12, 2023

August 31, 2023 at 7:00 AM EDT

DURHAM, N.C.--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Aug. 31, 2023-- Precision BioSciences, Inc. (Nasdaq: DTIL), a gene editing company developing ARCUS®-based in vivo gene editing therapies, today announced that it will host its in vivo gene editing R&D Day on Tuesday, September 12, 2023 from 9:00-11:30 AM ET.

Precision's gene editing event will feature presentations from Company management as well as key opinion leaders. The R&D Day event will reflect Precision's go-forward singular focus on in vivo gene editing through ARCUS, its proprietary, wholly owned genome editing platform. The agenda will include an overview of the broad potential and differentiation of ARCUS, new pre-clinical data, and timelines for leading in vivo gene editing programs.

Company Conference Call and Webcast Information

Registration for the live webcast is available at precision2023rdday.q4ir.com or under Events & Presentations in the Investors section of the Precision BioSciences website at investor.precisionbiosciences.com. The dial-in conference call number is 1 (888) 800-8518. The conference ID number for the call is 2795912. An archived replay of the webcast will be available on the Company website for one year following the presentation.
